WE NOMINATE

Cyril Edwin Black, one of this country's leading authorities on what transpires on Kremlin-dominated land masses, whose recent reports and comments on last month's elections in the Soviet Union have helped crystallize the vast differences between a monolithic dictatorship and genuine democracy. One of the three Americans appointed by the Department of State to observe the quadrennial elections to the Supreme Soviet—an invitation issued in exchange for the Soviet group which ogled American presidential elections in 1956—the 42-year old historian spent nearly a fortnight in Russia and culminated his tour with a 90-minute session with Nikita S. Krushchev, the man whom Black described three years ago as the real boss in Russia.

The elections witnessed by Black and his colleagues (the managing editor of Fortune Magazine and a ranking member of the Governmental affairs institute) stand out in stark contrast to this week's primary election here in New Jersey, the nation's first major political contest of 1958. In Russia the 1,378 districts had exactly 1,378 candidates. In miniscule New Jersey six men stood for nomination to the U. S. Senate, half of the 14 congressional districts featured intra-party struggles and there were numerous "in-the-family" scrambles for county and municipal posts. Of the 134,000,000 voters in the Soviet Union 99.97 per cent turned out. On a clear sunny day, less than one out of every four of New Jersey's registered voters found time to get to the polls.

These comparative statistics—perhaps better than the increasingly intense struggle for control of the skies—accentuates the abyss that separates totalitarian and democratic ways of life. In the former, as was anticipated in George Orwell's 1948, there is no room for individual choice, no alternative for anything except total commitment to a cause. Black and his fellow observers have pointed out that the elective process in the Soviet Union, involving some 1,200,000 paid workers over a period of a month, is a kind of "transmission belt," feeding propaganda to all parts of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and actually binding its citizens closer to a one-party phenomenon which for its own ends attempts to create the illusions of democracy.

North Carolina-born, Black spent 12 boyhood years in Turkey and Bulgaria, studied in Bulgaria, Austria, Germany and France and took his degrees at Duke and Harvard Universities. The author of several outstanding books, including Negotiating with the Russians and The Threat of Soviet Imperialism, Black since joining the University's faculty in 1939 has been tapped by the Department of State and the United Nations for assignments in Eastern Europe. Nearly a decade ago he figured conspicuously in the headlines generated by the "spy trial" of 15 churchmen in Sofia, Bulgaria. He didn't hesitate to call the charges "absurd" and several years later compared the Sofia burlesque of justice with the brainwashing of Americans by Chinese communists.

For seeking first-hand answers to some of the questions which continue to puzzle Americans and their elected representatives; for strengthening this country's appreciation of processes and institutions that are too often taken for granted; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

ORGANIZATION VICTORY

Princeton Falls in Line. As they did throughout the State,
the candidates who wore the party organization label won in Princeton in Tuesday's light primary balloting. Three out of four voters failed to go to the polls—22% recording their opinions in Princeton Township
and 26% in the Borough.

Former Congressman Harrison
A. Williams, who carried the Democratic nomination for U.S.
Senator by a slim margin, gained a part of his plurality here. In helping him defeat Hoboken
mayor John J. Grogan by some 15,000 votes out of 350,000 cast,
Borough voters were for Mr. Williams by very nearly 5 to 1.

He polled 485 votes to 102 for
Dr. Joseph E. McLean, State Commissioner whose home is on the Princeton-Lawrenceville
Road. In the state-wide totals,
Dr. McLean ran third by some 75,000 votes.

Princeton Township favored
Mr. Williams, a resident of Westfield, by a 4 to 1 ratio. He drew 262 votes to 63 for Dr. McLean.
Mr. Grogan, who rode a Hudson
County bandwagon that was un-
appealing to most Princetonians,
received only 47 votes from all 17 districts in the two municipalities here.

On the G.O.P. side of the fence,
Representative Robert W. Kean
(a Harvard alumnus whose name
is variously pronounced "Kane"

Season's Unreasons

*In spring,
A young man's fancy turns,
But when is it
That IT re-turns?*
—MARY GO. ROUND

This was a week that began
with weather pleasant enough
to turn everyone's fancy, at least to thoughts far removed from the late and lingering
cold that had dogged spring's footsteps weeks after her arrival. Temperatures soared, ranging from last Wednesday's chill minimum of 29 to this past Tuesday's delightful 74.

There'll be more of the same
during the latter part of the week, although probably not quite as warm. But the thermometer will average four to six degrees above the normal
of 50 for mid-April, and, with the weekend just 48 hours off,
there was no Saturday or Sunday rain in sight.

(For a report on how a professional forecaster looks at the weather's ways, see page 14.)

ed) was high man in the Borough
by a 4 to 1 ratio and by 3 to 1
in the Township. He outdrew former Eisenhower aide Bernard
M. Shanley, 419 to 91, in the Borough and 369 to 123 in the Township. The third Republican,
Robert Morris, was far back here
and in the complete figures (by 50,000.)

Local Totals of Interest. Repetition of the close races that have dominated the Princeton picture
at the local level for the past two or three years is forecast in the complimentary vote totals recorded on Tuesday. In the Borough, the Democrats got slightly more voters to the polls
than the Republicans, and their unopposed candidates experienced
the unusual in Princeton politics
as they gained the higher complimentary totals.

Council President Dan D. Coyle
topped the ballot with 590 votes,
followed by his running-mate,
John B. Redding with 581. Jack
Turner, Jr. received 530 and Paul
A. Alford, 518. In the Township, Republican William B. Dodge
received 407 to 319 for William H. Marvel, his opponent next fall.

"PRESERVE SUNDAY"

Ministers Support Legislation.
Led by the Rev. David H. McAlpin Jr., assistant pastor of Princeton's Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, the Presbytery of New Brunswick—by unanimous vote
Tuesday afternoon—called upon the Assemblymen from the four counties which lie within its bounds to take immediate action
for the passage of Assembly Bill 22. This Bill would prohibit the sale of non-essential merchandise
on Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. McAlpin, chairman of the Social Education and Action Committee of the Presbytery, urged the decisive move after
the Rev. Mr. Samuel Jeanes,
executive secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, had warned that Assembly Bill 22 might come before the State Assembly for a vote within a few days. As the Rev. Mr. Jeanes stressed, passage of the Bill would preserve Sunday
as a day of worship throughout
New Jersey.

The Rev. Mr. Jeanes' remarks
and the Rev. Mr. McAlpin's presentation took place at the Presbytery's regular April meeting in Trenton, which was chaired by the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson,
pastor of Witherspoon Presbyterian and recently elected moderator of the New Brunswick area
group. The Rev. Mr. McAlpin
said communications would be sent at once to the Assemblymen of Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth and Hunterdon Counties, which constitute the Presbytery.

Included in the communications was the following adopted message: "Whereas the first day of the week, commonly known as Sunday, has been observed by the Christian Church from its beginning as a day of worship, the Presbytery of New Brunswick in the State of New Jersey petitions you to support legislation for the enforcement of Sunday closing of unnecessary worldly commerce, and in particular to vote for Assembly Bill 22 now before the Assembly."

PERSONALITIES

Rev. Earl L. Douglass, 41 Armour Road, "retired" pastor of Germantown's Summit Presbyterian Church who this week, at a meeting of the "Old Guard" (he is Princeton '13), received one of the coveted, annual Spiritual Values Awards — a George Washington Honor Medal — from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. Author of two inspirational features for over 100 U.S. newspapers, one of the six-day-a-week "Strength for the Day" column that he has been writing for 23 years and the other the weekly "International Sunday School Lesson" that has been his since 1948 (it was the first of all syndicated columns, back in 1899). Dr. Douglass was cited specifically for "Freedom to Criticize," one of his best "Strength" articles.

Mrs. Thelma C. Young, 25 Mercer Street, experienced educational administrator and mother of four who this Thursday assumed her new duties as business manager of Miss Fine's School, succeeding the late Mrs. John H. R. Gulick. A graduate of the University of Illinois and a Princeton resident for the past 23 years, Mrs. Young recently completed two terms as a member of the Borough Board of Education, including one as its president. Her previous vocational post was with the registration and reports division of Educational Testing Service.

Edmund L. Keeley, 401-A Bulwer Avenue, professor of English at Princeton who this week won enthusiastic reviews with his Faulknerian first novel, "The Libation," published by Charles Scribner's Sons of New York. The Saturday Review called the story "an intricate work, shifting backward and forward through time in a modern re-enactment of the horrible misfortunes that overtook the House of Atreus." Said the New York Times reviewer: "An engrossing story of a lonely, idealistic, guilt-ridden man trying to cope with the torments of an awakened conscience."

Donald R. Zuber, 70 William Street, eighth grade student at Witherspoon School who served spiritedly this week as the personification of youth and spring and everything joyous about the start of the fishing season. Casting in Stony Brook, near Stockton Street bridge, the 13-year-old sportsman landed a 16<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>-inch rainbow trout at 8:30 A.M. Saturday, just 30 minutes after the season's opening. Older fishermen, racing excitedly across Stockton and causing a mild traffic jam, rated the catch one of the highest ever seen in the area. Young Don, almost overcome, noted with pride that it was his very first fish with a hook and line.

ROUND-UP

AROUND TOWN: If you've looked into sky above Princeton's southwestern sections of late and you've thought you were seeing red spots before your eyes, you're right . . . those red spots are parachutes carrying ardent members of a parachuting club a bit off-target, which is Nassau Airpark on the Brunswick Pike, but they don't seem to mind landing in Battle Memorial Park or other open fields off Mercer Road at all . . . if they happen to hit Marquand Park on May 1, they'll definitely disrupt a large-scale session of the Garden Club of New Jersey, set for the picturesque site that day . . . incidentally, Marquand is finally "springing" to life, with ball games, field hockey contests, picnics and just plain walks on a daily basis . . .

TOWN TOPICS' apologies are extended to all Princeton beekeepers . . . an announcement concerning last Friday's meeting of Beekeepers, Central Jersey Branch, arrived too late for inclusion in the proper issue . . . one of the pitfalls of journalism, that old deadline, made it impossible to herald a most interesting - sounding speech, "Pitfalls of Beekeeping."

Princeton High, in the market for prospective football opponents ever since Hamilton Township's decision to abandon the game there, has signed up Mt. Holly High, which also lost the Hornets in their time of financial crisis . . . the Princeton-Mt. Holly encounter will be this fall's opener for both clubs on Saturday, September 27, with Leonardo High likely moving to the second week on the Little Tigers' schedule and Westfield High probably coming in as Peddie School's replacement, to give PHS an eight-game slate once again . . . bids already are being obtained for the Borough-sanctioned razing of the two antique Public Service buildings on Witherspoon Street, and city officials now must weigh an ordinance to determine meter time lengths for the parking lots that will follow demolition . . . during the course of Monday's general meeting of the Princeton Business Association, discussion centered around that organization's newly established credit file when one member asked, "What is a bad credit risk in Princeton?" . . . unsolicited, another member provided the Answer of the Week: "Five years."

"MISSING LINK"

Township Accepts It. By a narrow 2-1 vote, the Princeton Township Committee okayed a resolution Monday evening accepting a strip of land from Trinity Church that eventually will permit the full extension of Terhune Road from Harrison Street to Snowden Lane. Committeemen R. Kenneth Fairman and Stanley C. Smoyer voted in favor of the "missing link" gift. John S. Mount opposed it and Mayor Charles A. Hurford and James G. Campbell Jr. abstained because they are Trinity members.

Under the terms of the resolution, the rector, wardens and vestrymen of the church offered the land with the Township agreeing to use it only for public road and public utility purposes. Trinity, with 73 acres north of the strip and a small triangular piece of property south of it, agreed to pay one-third the cost of Terhune in that area. If the triangle is sold, and two-thirds if the triangle becomes a cemetery. Mr. Fairman, who called the gift "a real break" for the Township, noted that the church also owns the right-of-way to Van Dyke Road, meaning the municipality will be able to build a 30-foot-wide road when the time comes to extend Terhune.

The Committee, which had anticipated a "light" agenda, found enough matters on its hands to keep the regular April meeting in progress for two hours, followed by another two-hour executive session. Highlight of the regular gathering was a request by members that Joseph R. Nini, Township clerk, and Calvin O. Schofield, Township engineer, continue their effort to get the State and County to live up to a December promise to install a badly needed traffic light at the intersection of Washington and College Roads. No one seemed to know whether the State or the County is delaying the long-sought installation.

Otherwise Monday evening, the Committee:

- Agreed that it would meet soon with representatives of Princeton Construction Company to work out drainage problems in the Overbrook section so the company can gain release of its completion bond for the area's roads.

- Took "under advisement" a Borough Fire Department request that an ordinance "with teeth" be adopted to enable the department to enforce its fire prevention recommendations in the Township, especially in large buildings and schools.

- Learned that the Township, with the endorsement of the Council of Community Services, plans to go ahead with a Joint Advisory Committee on Recreation, in cooperation with the Borough, and intends to make community recreational recommendations by November 1.

- Took "under advisement" an application for a club liquor license from the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, 434 Terhune.

- Set the week beginning April 28 as "Clean-Up Week" (the same week set by the Borough), announcing that a schedule for debris pick-up will be announced before the start.

- Heard of the Township's receipt of a safety award for its "no fatalities" record during the dangerous holiday period. Thanksgiving 1957 through January 1, 1958.

supervisor, says the purpose of the contest is to find a specific community project which will tie in with Kiwanis' annual fund-raising program.

Funds are raised each year by a benefit performance at the Lambertville Music Circus (this year: "Damn Yankees.")

The contest is open to anyone except members of Kiwanis and their families and it will be judged by the local organization. The competition starts today and will continue until midnight, May 15. Answers must be limited to 300 words or less and should detail a project that Kiwanis can help to sponsor, preferably on a continuing basis. Contestants should explain how their suggested project can best serve the interest of the community.

Entries will be accepted only on official entry forms, which are available at Hinkson's, Zinder's, Skirm's Smoke Shop and Center Stations.

KILLERS SOUGHT

After Body Discovery Here. Police and special investigators of four different law enforcement agencies this week pressed their determined, all-out search for the brutal slayers of Jacob J. Mayer, following up a number of leads and indicating that some of them may well be the right ones. The A&P store manager's trusted-up body was found here in the Delaware and Raritan Canal at 1:20 p.m. last Thursday, about five and a half days after it had been deposited there by the unknown killers.

As Town Topics went to press, officers of the Hamilton Township and Princeton Township police forces, the State Police and the Mercer County prosecutor's office, directed by Police Chief Philip F. Booz of Hamilton, were pursuing several "hot" leads, perhaps the hottest so far in the 13-day-old robbery-abduction-murder case. It was considered more than likely that a major break in the investigation will come by week's end.

Of primary importance, police were questioning an admitted hold-up artist, caught in the midst of a Camden "job" just 12 hours after Mr. Mayer's disappearance. He reportedly has confessed his role in a bandit gang of three or four that has been "working the Trenton area" in recent months. Based on evidence gathered to date, investigators have come to the conclusion that the 46-year-old A&P employee was abducted and murdered by more than two thugs, probably four.

Other leads are being pursued, too, as the Camden grilling continues. The A&P Company has offered a reward of $10,000 for information identifying the killers of Mr. Mayer and, inasmuch as Chief Booz has promised anonymity for information providing any scraps of information, "tips" are pouring into his office. Also, the State Police have not abandoned their laboratory checks of two autos that may turn up vital clues in the mystery—the burned-out car that was found on Carnegie Lake's towpath, some 50 yards from the canal spot where the body was pulled out, and a stolen car that was discovered abandoned near Mr. Mayer's Hamilton Square home last weekend.

Princeton Participation Vital. While redoubting their intensive efforts, officers on the case admitted great forward strides were made possible by the actual location of Mr. Mayer's body. They praised the work of Elmer Rodweller who, with fellow members Joseph Tunning and Raymond Wadsworth of the Princeton Rescue Squad, hooked the body in 11 feet of water. The whole county buzzed with the confirmed report that Mr. Rodweller had persisted in his personal search for the dead man after almost everyone else had decided the Aqueduct waters were empty.

As a result of the body discovery, police reasoned that Mr. Mayer was taken to the hatch-reach spot by fishermen or gang members with a thorough knowledge of the area. Subsequent medical examinations showed that the victim was knocked unconscious by a blunt instrument at the base of the skull and that he died of suffocation from his tight gags before being thrown into the canal. So, police theorized that the murder was not intentional, that Mr. Mayer's unanticipated death prompted the body disposal as well as the panicky auto-burning.

News Of The THEATRES

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Members' Evening Sunday. Leaving the stage, for a change, and joining the audience, the Princeton Community Players and their guests will enjoy a members' evening at 8 o'clock this Sunday, no painting, no hammering, no "take-it-from-the-beginning." Instead, they will hear a talk on "Off-Broadway Theatre" by Norris Houghton, a man who knows his subject well, being tonight co-director and co-manager of the now-famous Phoenix Theatre in New York.

Houghton, a graduate of the Joshua Slocum-Jimmy Stewart era at Princeton University, did the stage designs for such memorable Triangle Shows as "Zuider Zee," "The Golden Dog" and "The Tiger Smiles." He began his professional career as a stage designer, and recently effected the sets for "Waltz of the Toreadors," but he is primarily a producer. He is a past associate editor of Theatre Arts Monthly.

Sunday's gathering of the Players will take place in the Playmill on Alexander Street, where there will also be some discussion of the organization's plans for the May production of "Belle, the Typewriter Girl," or "The Vampires of Chicago."

THE PLAYHOUSE

Paris Holiday (Apr. 17-19) returns Bob Hope to the land of pure farce, after several excursions into semi-serious drama, and a delightful homecoming it is. One of America's finest comedians, if not its greatest contemporary clown, Hope is at his best—for the first time in quite a spell—in this merry romp across the Atlantic and much of the French terrain in and around Paris. The plot, such as it is, involves an international game of counterfeits, a runaway cab ride down the steep streets of Montmartre, an interlude in an insane asylum and a climactic helicopter chase, with Fernald at the controls and Hope hanging on to the bottom of a rope ladder. Hope is credited with authorship of the film's original story, and he is also the producer this time, which may explain why the plot ranks second to the wonderful Harold Lloyd-like antics of days gone by. In addition to the movie's star, whose visual and verbal gags are slowed down only on infrequent occasions, "Paris Holiday" is aided hilariously by Fernald, voluptuously by Anita Ekberg and prettily by Martha Hyer. The Technicolor-Technirama treatment of the on-location French scenery also gives Hope one of the handsomest productions of his illustrious career.

Run Silent, Run Deep (Apr. 20-26), based on Commander Edward L. Beach's dramatic and suspenseful novel of men-at-war under the sea, gives the screen a taut, exciting motion picture with two top-ranking co-stars—Clark Gable and Burt Lancaster—at their he-manly best. An almost woman-less film, this saga of the American submarine Nerka's wartime patrol of the broad Pacific Ocean features some of the most effectively nail-biting scenes of undersea warfare ever recorded and some excellent characterizations to boot. Gable is the sub's tough commander, anxious to avenge the sinking of a previous vessel in the dreaded Bongo Straits. Lancaster, chief officer of the same ship, is disappointed because he isn't the skipper—and the crew lines up on his side in an ensuing clash of memorable personalities. In the end, the Japs are hit hard by the Nerka, the two stars are friends and Gable is a dead hero, but not before a series of events that promise to appeal to a great number of moviegoers, permitting none to fall asleep.

THE GARDEN

Wife for a Night (Apr. 17-19), in Italian with excellent English subtitles, isn't exactly a brand-new import from romantic Rome, but, then, with Gina Lollobrigida as the vintage attraction, isn't it logical that it should age as well as wine? It does. Gina, cast as a drab wife in a do-nothing-for-her-gown, performs surprisingly well, utilizing her dramatic ability rather than her renowned physical attributes. Later, fortunately, her truest form is brought into sharp focus, so all is not lost for —Continued on Page 6 movements seeking more than an interesting story. Gino Cervi, offering a deft performance as a perplexed rake, supports a very funny comedy with some convincing acting, as does Nadia Gray. New or not, "Wife" is appetizing fare for the foreign film sampler.

Four Bags Full (Apr. 21-23), in French with English subtitles, presents a wry, sentimental look, with comic overtones, at the Nazi occupation of Paris during World War II and it is one of the better Galle Imports to reach these shores. While seeming to be a well-known "black market" episode, the film boasts excellent characterizations as its principals, as well as four subplots of black-market pot across the occupied City of Lights. Jean Gabin, well-known to American audiences, is excellent as an involuntary accomplice in black-marketeering. The latter winner of the "best acting" award at last year's Venice Film Festival, Claude Lelouch's direction is lively; he guides his players nimbly, provocatively and intelligently in the tradition of top-tier film-making.

THEATRE INTIME

"Glass Menagerie" Scheduled. Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" will be the next offering from Princeton's Theatre Intime, to be presented in Murray Theatre May 1 through May 3 and May 5 through May 10.

Georgine Hall will be featured in the role of Amanda. Her most recent appearance was in the title role of "Mary of Scotland", a portrayal received with great enthusiasm by critics and audiences. Kathy Kelly, who has worked with the University Players during the past two summers, will be seen in the part of Laura.

Fred Wardenburg, Intime president, will play Tom and Dick Johnson will play Jim. Steven Lipsitz will be the director. Peter Da Luca will design the sets and Robert Baylis will serve as stage manager.

With this production, Theatre Intime will initiate a new system of ticket sales, offering groups of 15 or more for organizations that would like purchase blocks of seats. They will be offered for the performances of May 5, 6, and 7 at a special rate and the organization may then resell the tickets for any price it sets. Those interested should call WA 4-3539 any evening after 7:30.

Why "Menagerie"? In a statement justifying the choice of the Williams' play, "Menagerie's" producers, Fred Wardenburg and Steven Lipsitz, answer critics who believe that Intime should produce only experimental works. "We are of the opinion that a good play is worth putting on whether it is well-known or not. We are sure that there are enough people in the area who have not seen 'The Glass Menagerie' to fill the theatre for nine nights. Because the show has been done successfully before is no reason why it should not be done again. The size of the cast, the nature of the roles, the technical demands are all well within our scope. We want to find out whether there is interest in a quality production put on by a student theatre in Princeton."

Tom Lehrer to Sing Here. Certain cherished American institutions will be examined on Saturday, May 3, when Tom Lehrer will come to McCarter Theatre to sing his satirical songs. The 29-year-old former mathematics instructor at Harvard became well known through his long-playing record which has sold over a quarter of a million copies.

Promising "something for every depraved taste," Lehrer lampoons such things as the commercial aspects of Christmas, with "Hark the Herald Tribune Sings, Advertising Wondrous Things," and the college generation, with "Hearts Full of Youth, Hearts Full of Truth, Six Parts of Gin and One Part of Vermont." The sardonic Lehrer, who waxes, sings and plays the piano for his own songs, will appear in Princeton following a concert at Carnegie Hall in New York.

Tickets for his 8 p.m. performance are available at the Princeton University Store, the Princeton Music Center, or by mail from Concert Productions, Box 662. Prices are $1.75, $2.20, $2.70 and $3.

Savoyards Set Extra Show. The Savoyards will travel to Flemington Saturday to stage an extra performance of "The Gondoliers" at Flemington High School. Three performances of the Gilbert and Sullivan work will be given the following weekend, April 25 and 26, in McCarter Theatre.

Tickets for the Princeton performances of "The Gondoliers," featuring Lee H. Bristol Jr. and Rochelle Erb in the leading roles, are available at the Princeton University Store or by mail from 16 Blair Hall. Prices for the Friday and Saturday night shows have a top of $3.25, with the Saturday matinee seats scaled from $2.85.

MORE ADVERTISERS use Town Topics exclusively than any other paper in Princeton. It costs them less per copy too.

IT'S NEW To Us

THE SHOOTS OF APRIL.
Spring, They Say, Is Late. The crowd, the host of golden daffodils
that we might expect this time of year, just ain't. Our informant at Howe Nurseries in Pennington tells us the blooming season this year is a full
two to three weeks behind last year. We had suspected something of the kind already.

Anyhow, Howe's is eager to help the blooming all it can, and the specialists in Pennington suggest that if you want consistent,
delightful bloom year after year,
you plant a few flowering trees
and shrubs.

One of the favorites at Howe's
is the flowering crab-apple called Katherine. There is one called Charlotte, too.

Katherine is white and Charlotte pink and you take your choice or buy both. The Korean cherry, the Japanese double-flowering kind, is well-liked at Howe's
too. (This is the cherry that forma
the alley leading to the Princeton Battle Monument.)

Pink dogwood flowers abundantly
at Howe's, and you can have anything from a mere whip to a storable tree. There are all kinds of forsythia, if you need flowering shrubs, and flowering almond in bright or pale pink.

Gardeners with a practical bent
might like to choose a few fruit trees from the Howe nursery. And anybody who buys blackberry bushes can begin right now to dream about pies.

Landscape designers at Howe's
will give you advice on what to plant. If you call Pennington 7-0700, a specialist will come to your house and look over your property to see what it needs. For advice on a smaller scale, you
may consult the attendants at the plant market on Pennington's
Main Street.

Sticky-Prickly Himself. The
most engaging small animal you could imagine has lumbered into Stuff 'n Nonsense. He's a four-inch hedgehog, just like Sticky-Prickly, the hedgehog in the Just So Stories who worked himself into an armadillo. Stuff's hedgehog is called Jorgi, but he's Sticky-Prickly as far as we're concerned.

He's a stuffed little fellow with
"quills" made of hair that has apparently been treated with glue
to make it stiff, and he sits on his hind legs looking as though
he had just fooled the jaguar
again.

To keep him company, you'll want some more animals in the Stuff 'n Nonsense. A wooden elephant (probably the Elephant's

Higher Than A . . .

A kite is a magic spring toy,
an exciting and soaring thing
for anyone to fly. One of the best this year is a new model
at Stuff 'n Nonsense, a kite
that sails with flying colors of red, lemon yellow and royal blue.

It's not a box kite, but it exists on more than one plane.
You might call it a kind of split-level design. Stuff 'n Nonsense has three versions: one is $1, another is slightly larger
and has 250 feet of kite string.
It's $2. The third is still larger and has a reel as well as string. It's $3.

The bigger kites rise on a windy day with a surge of speed that can bring a gulp to your throat. Miss Britcher,
the Stuff 'n Nonsense lady,
suggests that for a fast trip to grandma, you just put an identification tag around a child's neck, wrap his fist
around the kite string and blast him off.

Actually, of course, the kites
are not hazardous; they're just amazingly gifted at sailing with the wind.

Child, while we're on the subject
of that So stories) has a brass
spring for a trunk and legs and head that move.

His friend the giraffe has polka
dots and moveable legs, and a clipped French poodle that somehow strayed into this jungle, has moveable legs that have been carved in rings to resemble poodle
curls (black, natural, brown).

The bug in this animal kingdom
is a ladybug about the size of a half golf ball. She's made of bright red plush with black polka
dots and she's got black feelers.

Small people just beginning to tell time and to do puzzles will
like a wooden clock that lets them do both. Bigger puzzle fans will prefer the three-dimensional
puzzles that say on the box
"THINK." Should think so!

Hoop-ii is a mobile game you can play without a court, or anything else except the plastic hoops
you're supposed to catch on plastic sticks. Another mobile game
is Scoop-Ball in which you toss
a ball back and forth, catching
it in a net.

Toy wind-up: a wind-up lady-
bug that goes in circles—a big rag
doll whose gingham dress and white petticoat and underpants
can be easily removed by a young mother. Doll is almost a yard high and costs $6—Little Miss Ginger is eight inches high
with high heels and a wardrobe—
she sits at a new tea-table, round,
with matching captain's chairs.
Three-inch Japanese dolls in glass boxes are dressed in traditional and apparently symbolic Japanese

FINAL SYMPHONY CONCERT
Zathurecky and Wells Appear.
Offering a program of Purcell,
Brahms, Bart and Tchaikovsky,
the Princeton Symphony Orchestra appeared in the final concert of its season Monday night at McCartier Theatre. Nicholas
Harsanyi conducted the well-balanced program before a near-capacity audience.

Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary"
can be a most stirring affair. Unfortunately, as played at McCartier Monday night, it was not.
The rendition was certainly presented, but it had no emotional impact. The most obvious shortcoming was the complete lack of enthusiasm displayed by the trumpets themselves. Simple pieces of this nature are not enjoyable
when performed without enthusiasm.

The "Double Concerto for Violin, Cello and Orchestra," (Opus 102) in A minor, by Brahms, suffered too in its opening passages from a certain lethargy. Fortunately, soloists Ede Zathurecky and David Wells provided some color in their individual performances to atone for the orchestra's initial difficulties.
In the opening "allegro," the first of three movements, Mr.
Wells rendered several outstanding passages. He is undoubtedly the finest young cellist in the United States today. The slow second movement was marked by Mr. Zathurecky's accomplished
violin; his performance throughout was poised and thoroughly meticulous. It was in this movement that the orchestra came to life, and began to play as if it meant it.

The third movement, "viva
non troppo," was done extremely well by soloists and orchestra.
Mr. Harsanyi's Symphony sounded
like the well-trained and obedient unit Princeton concert-goers
have come to expect. The finale
was received most enthusiastically
by the audience, which called back conductor and soloists
several times before intermission.

"The Fleety of Lyelids" by Nathaniel Bart is most interesting and thoroughly enjoyable fare. Done beautifully by the orchestra, it reflects a series of moods which are apparent without being crass and obvious, as is the case in some contemporary music. Mr. Bart was present and received well deserved applause
from an appreciative audience.
Tchaikovsky's "Theme and Variations (Mozartiana)" begins
to form in a manner Mozart,
and progresses (or regresses, depending upon the point of view)
to a manner Tchaikovsky. The theme is delightful and the variations are imaginative. The composer intended these variations to be fun; judging from the complete attention Mr. Harsanyi enjoyed from his musicians, one might deduct that they are, indeed, a real pleasure to perform.

This was the final regular concert by the Princeton Symphony
for the season. Members of the orchestra, and especially Mr.
Harsanyi, are to be congratulated for their outstanding performances this year. Any group of musicians can have an "off"
piece or movement occasionally.
That it happens so seldom is a real credit to the ability of conductor Harsanyi and the orchestra's 60 members.

THIS CHOIR PERFORMANCE
Menotti and Vivaldi Heard.
The Princeton High School Choir
gave inspired performances of Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Un-
born," The Gergon and The Man-
tione's and Antonio Vivaldi's
"Gloria" last Friday and Saturday nights. The young singers,
under the direction of Thomas Hilbish, instilled the Menotti
music and libretto with great
color and contrasted the composer's moods with utmost effectiveness. In the Vivaldi piece, which opened the program, they created an atmosphere of deep
religious feeling.
Menotti's madrigal-fable presents staging and singing difficulties which were handled very
ably by the choir and dancers.
The pacing was brisk and the whole production was conducted
with professional smoothness.

The resonance and brilliancy of
the singing were particularly notable.

The comic, tragic and satirical
aspects were brought out extremely well by the dancers who acted out in pantomime the sung
allegory. The stunning costumes, lent by the New York City Center, gave the performance a 15th-
century flavor which was beautifully enhanced by the singing.
The dancers were Ann Read-
inger and Peter Epstein as the count
and countess; John Letter as the count; Alan Ammerman, Richard Hogarty and Darian Gardner as the unknown, gorgon and masti-
core respectively; Paul Freeman
and Linda Dye as the mayor and his wife, and Bryce Brown and Adle Darke as the doctor and his wife.

The soloists in the "Gloria"
were Arnold Ickson, tenor, Ralph Stroup, baritone, Julia Bowers,
Susan Craig and Margaret Shaw,
contraltos and Linda Brown, soprano. The choir's officers are Arthur Hulick, president; Jonathan
Weymer, vice-president; Sandra Weymer, treasurer; Miss Brown,
treasurer, and Miss Craig, choir
accompanist.

JOINT MCCARTIER CONCERT
Requiem Mass By Cherubini.
The Princeton University Orchestra, the Westminster Choir College Orchestra and the Westminster Graduate Choir will give a joint concert under the direction
of Nicholas Harsanyi Sunday at 8:30 in McCartier Theatre. They will perform Cherubini's Requiem Mass.

The concert marks the first time
Princeton audiences have heard the three groups perform together in recent years. It is the last in a series of three concerts
this season by the University Orchestra which is composed mainly of students and faculty with some qualified musicians from town.

Freshman Prom Concert. The Friends of Music at Princeton will present the traditional Freshman Glee Club concert Friday at 8 in 50 McCosh. Under the direction of Milton Gill, Class of 1956, the Glee Club is concluding a season
of 11 concerts including one with Miss Finch.

The program will include works
by serious composers of the 16th, 18th and 20th centuries, as well
as lighter works. The concert is open to the public with no charge.

University Band to Play. The Princeton University Band, under the direction of Robert L. Leist, will give its annual spring concert Saturday at 8 in McCartier Theatre. There is no admission charge.

Bruce McKinney, '60, will conduct Correll's concerto grosso for brasses, and the feature presentation will be the second and third
movements of the Grand Symphony for Band by Berlioz. Other composers to be heard are Moor,
Vaughan Williams, Bach and Mozart.

Music Club Meeting. The next meeting of the Princeton Music
Club will take place Wednesday
at 8:30 at the home of Mrs. A. N.
Spence, 344 Stockton Street.

Mrs. John Ellis will assist as hostess. Ruth McLean, Sylvia Nichols and Maria Facca who are members of the club will play
as well as the club's guests,
Estelle Shehold and Dorothy Stritky.

Recital Sunday. Thomas Tucker
of 138 Fitz-Randolph Road will give a piano recital Sunday at 3.
A pupil at Nassau Elementary School, he is the son of Professor and Mrs. A. W. Tucker. The recital will take place at the home of this teacher, Mrs. Naomi Chandler, 107 Westcott Road.

Children Act
Like Children

Active children do have accidents—minor injuries are an almost everyday occurrence. It's the serious accidents, with many expensive doctor and hospital bills that can "knock"
your budget and bring a flood of money worries. Why risk
it—when our special Princeton Accident Policy for children helps provide the money for accidental medical bills. It stays
"on the job" for a whole year. Cost of $13. May we give you complete information about this insurance that every lively youngster should have?

Tragic Truism: Cancer Is No Respector Of Age

William Jean Darnell—known to the many who love him as "Baby Jean"—is only a year old, but already he is living on borrowed time. "Baby Jean" is a victim of cancer—a cancer that is moving relentlessly through his small body.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William Darnell, 23 Phaeton Drive, Hamilton Township, the youngster spent most of his first year in Columbia Presbyterian Hospital in New York. His right eye has been removed and, while doctors are treating a tumor on his left eye, it is doubtful if they can save it for long.

Needless to report, medical bills are mounting up at the Darnell home. Mr. Darnell, a carpenter by trade, has been out of work a lot during the recession period. The American Cancer Society is helping, but the requirements are above and beyond its limits in the case.

This week, help—a great deal of help—is on its way for this cancer-stricken family. Mrs. Darnell is the former Joan Bubcek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Bubcek, Kingston. Born and raised in Kingston, Mrs. Darnell is well-known in the Princeton area.

Her friends are rallying wonderfully through "The Baby Jean Fund," which has given $150 and $100, respectively.

Tying in their humanitarian effort with Cancer Control Month programs, Joan Bubcek's admirers are collecting contributions for her sick baby. Already, donations are arriving for "The Baby Jean Fund," c/o Postmaster, Kingston. The Franklin Township Lions Club has given $50 and others have followed suit: Princeton Nurseries, $50; Kingston Fire Company, $35; Kingston Teenagers, $20; and C. I. Van Cleef, $20. Containers are being distributed in Kingston and Princeton.

Co-chairmen of "The Baby Jean Fund" are John P. Stout Jr. and Jack Adams of Kingston, who hope for "many more contributions" to aid the Darnells in their time of need. Also on the fund-raising committee are Rev. Henry Heaps of Kingston Presbyterian Church, Jessie Anderson of Kingston Methodist Church, and Mrs. Charles Petrillo, Mrs. Harold Heacock, Leslie Luck Jr. and Edward Rey. Richard Stout is the Princeton representative, while Thelbert Hunt representing the campaign in South Brunswick.

Mr. Mayer, buried in Ewing Church Cemetery on Monday, was abducted from his home about 10:30 p.m. April 4. His abductors forced him to open the safe at his home, 2110 South Broad Street, Trenton, which is now known to have contained almost $11,000 at the time, and then drove him to the remote township site in Princeton. Some 15 miles from the robbery scene, the store manager's watch stopped at 12:23, when he entered the canal, presumably the morning of April 5, and the burned-out car was noticed April 6, after rain had washed away any helpful footprints or tire tracks. The next major development came when Mr. Rodwell snatched the body April 10.

It was pointed out that, if the killers are apprehended, and Chief Booz has left little doubt they will be caught, a charge of first-degree murder—with death in the electric chair as the penalty—will greet them. There could be no lesser charge, since Mr. Mayer was murdered during the commission of a felony—in fact, two felonies, abduction and robbery.

YMCA PANEL PLANNED

Campaign Starts Next Week. A panel discussion, "The Challenge for American Youth" will be the feature of the YMCA's "Let's Finish the Job Campaign" kick-off dinner to be held next Thursday, April 24, at 7 in the Princeton High School gym.

Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president emeritus of Princeton, will moderate the panel, which will include Dr. John Turkovich, Mrs. Lowell Thomas, Jr., and Dr. Peter Putnam. Dr. Turkovich will discuss Russian and American education and Mrs. Thomas will describe her world travels.

Also appearing on the program will be Justice A. Dayton Olin, chairman of the YMCA Board of Trustees; Kenneth Hawthorne, chairman of the Teams organization; Dr. Charles E. Erdman, Sr., member of the Board of Trustees and Leslie F. Laughlin, chairman of the Finish-the-Job campaign. All campaign workers are invited to the dinner which will launch the $375,000 campaign to finish the YMCA building.

STUDENTS CHECK IN
Cancer Drive Gets Recruits. Boys and girls from Princeton High school wearing arm badges will descend on Princeton stores Monday afternoon as volunteers in the fight against cancer. They will carry bank checks that have been overprinted with a red indelible ink slogan, "Check Cancer with a Check and a Check-up." The checks will be displayed in store windows as a reminder to donors who want to help meet the Mercer County goal of $51,700. Raymond Maguire, president of Princeton High's student council reported: "Our council is pleased to help in any way we can toward the cancer drive. We think it's really important to our community. We're all for it."

The First National Bank and The Princeton Bank and Trust Company have each given 1000 checks which will be stamped by a committee of women under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Dilley. Some checks will be put in store windows and others will be given directly to passers-by.

Mrs. James Hillier, chairman of the Cancer Drive, says that hundreds of Princetonians are working to meet the New Jersey goal of $1,200,000. The money goes toward basic grants to hospitals, and for diagnostic services, special medications, visiting nurses and radium treatments. The drive will begin Wednesday and will last until April 30.

ELECTION RESULTS

Four Contests Decided. In Mercer County's lone primary race on Tuesday, Lawrence Township Republicans named Harry J. Ratcliffe Jr. their choice for tax collector. He polled 366 votes to 107 for John J. Nash.

In Franklin Township, Democratic voters gave the nod to Edward Rey of Kingston (544) and Francis Willard of Hollywood Homes (553) over Herley W. Wheeler of Rutgers Heights. Republican candidates Leonard Ruppert of East Windsor (412) and Brandon Fusesy of Hollywood Homes (421) were unopposed for the committee seats.

"KEY" MOMENT IN GRISLY MURDER CASE: Elmer Rodweller, Princeton Rescue Squad volunteer, secures the body of murder victim Jacob J. Mayer that he located Thursday at the bottom of the Delaware and Haritan Canals. The first person murdered in Princeton in five years, Mr. Mayer was found bound and gagged in gangland style. His body lay in the middle of the canal, right across the Mercer-Middlesex line, but Mercer investigators, with all other elements of the complex crime in their jurisdiction, took over the case. Montgomery Township Republicans preferred Arthur Kirk of Skillman (458) to F. Lloyd Staats of Belle Mead (311) for Township Committee. For tax collector, it was J. Lester Drake, (468) over Donald C. Thiel (294). There were no Democrats on the ballot.

DO IT YOURSELF

No Thorough Trash Removal. Except for the annual Clean-Up Week (April 29), the Borough of Princeton has no funds or manpower for the collection of tree branches, leaves, etc. that still plague numerous property owners as an aftermath of the March snowstorm.

Not only was removal of such refuse, combined with snow and ice clearance, more costly than at any time in the past quarter century, but Borough personnel is now occupied with normal spring-time duties. The municipality has accordingly informed property owners that they must care for any refuse currently waiting collection between the sidewalk and the street. When Clean-Up Week does begin, branches must be tied in small bundles and all other refuse placed in containers that one man can lift easily.

TOWNSHIP PTA MEETINGS

Buffet Suppers Planned. Highlights of the Princeton Township Parent-Teacher Association meetings this month will be buffet suppers, the only fund-raising projects of the year. The money raised will go to the PTA Scholarship Fund and such projects as CARE packages of books to be sent to Europe. The Valley Road School supper and meeting will take place Tuesday at 6 and the Littlebrook School meeting will be held Tuesday, April 29. After the election of officers for the coming year, Valley Road parents will have the opportunity to view an exhibit prepared by Mrs. Frank Neumann and titled "Education Through Art."

Chairmen of the general committee are Mrs. Leslie Vicino, president of the PTA, and Mrs. Leonard Johnson, director of budget and finance. The Valley Road assistants are Mrs. Martin Moore, Mrs. T. Haring-Gould, Mrs. Alan Tredebeck, Mrs. J. A.

Gruesome Boxscore

By his own actual count, Princetonian Elmer Rodweller has helped remove 13 bodies from Carnegie Lake and its watery environs over the course of the past half-century. The latest and most spectacular of these removals—his near-singhanded discovery of murder victim Jacob J. Mayer in the Delaware and Haritan Canal last Thursday—definitely established the 63-year-old retired police sergeant, who resides at 8 Chestnut Street, as the area's leader in this unpleasant competition.

As a youngster of 12 or so, Mr. Rodweller first found a murdered "rag" man, later a suicide with his father. Subsequently, in his role as the Princeton Rescue Squad's No. 1 body-searcher, he played an instrumental part in locating another suspected murder victim, two more suicides and seven accident victims—two swimmers, two skaters and three fall-ins. Mr. Mayer's body "was in the most awful condition of all," the former policeman revealed, though a hunt on the Millstone side of the Aqueduct was more memorable because "I got caught under a bridge beam and almost drowned myself."

Hopfully, Mr. Rodweller, who admits "I love to work in and around the water," has retrieved some still-alive bodies during his exciting career. Many years ago, he saved a young boy who was about to go over Kingston dam in a small boat and, just last year, he was praised for rescuing a Bay Head swimmer. This past winter, while "vacationing" in Florida, he pulled in two helplessly women, one of them after he had gone down for a third time himself.

McFadden, Mrs. Irving Wolff, Mrs. Charles Plummer, Mrs. E. G. Linder, Mrs. Santo Vicino, Mrs. William Kleinberg, Mrs. Henry K. Mrs. Robert Kann, Mrs. Victor Venier, Mrs. Warren Shaw and Mrs. Albert Keiser.

Birth List. Fourteen children, including 10 boys, were born to area residents at Princeton Hospital last week.

Parents of sons: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scroggs, 226 Ewing Street; Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Brooks, 75 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Riedl, 22 Linden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Palmer, 14 Willow Road, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne M. Culver, Westville-Zion Road, Hopewell.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dorothy Arnswell Road, Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rodelfeld, 114 Washington Road, Penns Neck; Mr. and Mrs. Sven E. Lundstedt, 75 Jefferson Road; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald MacPherson, Grovers Mill Road, Princeton Junction; and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McManimon, 30 Erdman Avenue.

Parents of daughters are: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ansell, 463 Jefferson Road; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Shaw Jr., 55 Deerpath; Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Brocksbank, Mt. Rose Road, Hopewell; and Mr. and Mrs. J. Joseph Pesce, 38 Carnahan Place.

Mc Carter's Manager to Speak. Mrs. Herbert McCarter, general manager of McCarter Theatre, will address the Women's College Club at 3:30 Monday in the social room of Princeton High School. Mrs. McCarter, who is also an officer of the Princeton Community Players and curator of the Theatre collection at Firestone Library, will tell the story of "Behind the Scenes at McCarter Theatre."

Mrs. Douglas MacNeil is hostess-in-charge of the meeting. She will be assisted by Mrs. John De Groot, Mrs. K. P. Hall, Mrs. John Meyer, Mrs. Arthur Farnpart, Miss Anne Turnbull and Mrs. Lawrence Webster.

Women to See A-Bomb Film. Members of the Princeton Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will see a motion picture on the results evident today of the atomic attack on Hiroshima, at their April meeting. The showing is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. next Thursday at the home of Ms. Lofen Johnston, 101 Overbrook Drive.

Interested members of the community are invited to see the film entitled "Shadow of Hiroshima" which is distributed by the American Friends Service

SEEK CLEAN SWEEP: By way of illustrating their determination, Junior V. Skillman (left) and Robert A. Nelson, co-chairmen of the Princeton Lions Club's 1958 "Broom Sale," try to sell their wares to Felix Simone, veteran Borough street-sweeper who needs anything but a broom. The annual benefit event, which the Lions hope will raise $2,000 for the eye clinic at Princeton Hospital, is set for April 19 through 26. Members of the club, identified by the tefalite hats pictured above, will conduct a door-to-door campaign, peddling light bulbs, pails and pitchforks as well as a variety of brooms. The goods also will be sold at stands on Palmer Square, at the Shopping Center and in Turney Motors' showroom. (Photo by Alan Richards)

Committee. Also at the meeting, officers will be elected and resolutions reviewed prior to presentation at the annual state meeting of the League.

Bryn Mawr Book Sale Set. Between 10,000 and 15,000 books will be on sale from April 30 to May 2 as part of the Bryn Mawr Club's book sale at the Chambers Street Firehouse. It will run from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. April 30; from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. May 1 and from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. May 2.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for scholarships for area girls. The club will be collecting all kinds of books, ranging from fiction to text books, on Sunday, April 27, in preparation for the sale. Anyone wishing to contribute books should call Walnut 4-3007 or Walnut 1-4231 to arrange to have them picked up.

JAYCEES TAKE OVER. "Operation Nassau" is New Hands, Princeton's Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken over the responsibilities of Operation Nassau, creating a special committee for the purpose under the chairmanship of Larom Munson of the Little Gallery. As a first step in operating Operation Nassau, the Jaycees will present 16 awards to Princeton firms that have done extensive remodeling or construction in the past three years, and have designed their buildings along the general Colonial lines recommended by Operation Nassau.

The awards will be presented this Thursday at 8 p.m. at a dinner at the Nassau Tavern. Winners are the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc., Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., Kung Ping Trading Company, Lawrence E. Branson (The Benson Building), Charles Weigel (174-78 Nassau), Sallier Wines and Liquors, Esther's Beauty Salon, Nassau Savings and Loan Association, Stanley Dohm (108-110 Nassau), Yeoman's Liquor Store, Princeton Gourmet, Miss Margaret and Elizabeth A. Looney (238 Nassau), First Presbyterian Church and Davidson Brothers Supermarket. In addition, Honorary Awards for cooperation with the Operation Nassau Committee in its endeavor to maintain the traditional character of Princeton, will be given to Raymond F. Male, Charles A. Hurford, Robert F. Goheen, L.

ANY QUESTIONS? Borough Patrolman Ralph Procaccino and Hugh S. Gary, New York City salesman, discuss speeding violations and tickets at the corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets. For their opinions, as well as various others, see Question of the Week below.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the penalties for speeding violations in Princeton should be made more strict or less strict?

Location: Around town.

Mrs. Victor Pollak, Yardley, Pa., secretary: I do not think the penalties for speeding should be any less strict. I drive through Princeton every day and it is one of the best-policed places I know. Discouraging speeders is one very good way of cutting down the terrific toll of injuries.

Hugh S. Gary, New York, traveling salesman: I have never had a speeding ticket in the many years I have been driving in this area. I probably would think the fine was steep if I did get a ticket, but, under the circumstances I think the system seems fair enough.

Ralph Procaccino, 35 Humbert Street, Borough patrolman: I think the present system of penalties is satisfactory, since enforcement of the law is strict. There have been no fatalities in the Borough this year and I believe we can continue the good record by apprehending and discouraging speeders under the present penalties.

Mrs. Lawrence Benson, Providence Line Road, housewife and mother: The fines are strict now and should continue to be so. The tremendous amount of traffic in Princeton makes it important to put a stiff penalty on speeders.

Americo Arenas, 384 Ewing Street, taxi cab driver: I think the penalties should be more strict. For instance, in Connecticut, the first speeding offense means revocation of the motorist's license, and I understand this has cut down the number of fatalities a great deal. In a growing community like Princeton, with a lot of traffic, I think the same thing should apply.

George Adalene, Carter Road, bank official: As long as the speed limits are reasonable, I think the penalties for violations should be severe. If anything, I think the penalties should be more strict in Princeton, since the speed limits are reasonable. It's the only way to cut down on the carnage taking place on the roads.

Anthony Cirullo, 28 Humbert Street, post office driver: On the highway, 20 m.p.h. is fast enough for anybody, and I think the penalties ought to be more strict there. I don't think a man's license should be taken away on the first offense, though, especially if driving represents means of livelihood. However, if he's an habitual speeder, there should be a stiffer penalty and drastic steps should be taken.

James G. Campbell Jr., 93 Battle Road, Township police commissioner: I think you've asked an excellent question — one which I hope all of your readers will consider with interest and care. Personally, I certainly don't believe our penalties should be any less strict than they are now. The less speed exhibited on our highways, the fewer the accidents. Of course, a person driving too slowly can cause accidents, too, but, in general, it's speed that's the worst offender.

Accent on Safety

This week's Question of the Week was prompted by a Borough Council promise last week that the municipality's enforcement of speeding laws will be re-emphasized in the immediate future. Noting that Borough officers will continue to use their "spot-zone" techniques to catch violators, Acting Police Commissioner Dan D. Coyle stressed that offenders can look forward to a number of "surprises."

While the same subject was raised at the Township Committee's regular April meeting Monday evening, Police Commissioner James G. Campbell Jr. assured Town Topics that the patrolmen on his municipality's force have not forgotten the importance of apprehending speeders. "We will continue to conduct our radar checks regularly and at different locations," he said. (For Mr. Campbell's response to Question, see below.)

LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP

Property to be Revalued. During the next few weeks, representatives of the J. M. Clemmshaw Company will inspect houses in the southern portion of Lawrence Township in an effort to equalize the township's tax assessment. Sections 13 to 15 and 27 to 41, Lawrenceville area, will receive immediate attention.

House inspections will soon be completed in the areas northwest of Route 206 and northeast of Cold Soil Road as well as south Eggers Crossing Road. Owners not at home at the appraiser's first visit will be called on a future Saturday morning.

The firm's representatives carry credentials signed by Marie B. Loveless, Township Clerk. Home owners are urged to ask for them before allowing the appraiser to enter and inspect their property.

French Shop Fashion Show. The Georgian Court Alumnae Association will hold a luncheon and fashion show Saturday at 1 at the Princeton Inn.

The French Shop, owned by Miss Marcelle Stalger, will show its spring and summer fashions. Proceeds will benefit the scholarship fund of the Lakewood college.

fashion but nobody knows what the symbolism is.

Pull the Bamboo. Matchstick bamboo and its inside peel cousin have taken on a coat of glamour, At Home Decor, in the Princeton Shopping Center, you may have your bamboo custom-made, in shades that pull down, ease curtains that pull across, or window-shades that you pull down with a center cord and ring.

The woven woods come in any of a million colors, including pink or blue and various degrees of natural. We rather took to persimmon. If this isn't enough, you may have your blinds scatter-printed with dots in different colors, or swirled with doodles in contrasting—well, shades, if you'll pardon the pun.

Some patterns have cord and metallic threads woven between the slats, and you may choose from match-stick size, quarter-inch or three-quarter. Valances, cornices, folding doors and room dividers go along with all this vast collection so you can fetch up everything in the room or on the porch.

Decorators with a more formal room to cope with will certainly jump at the Austrian shades in white dacron. For the uninitiated, an Austrian shade is a sheer white curtain that lies flat, like a window shade, with full-length vertical gathers every seven inches across the whole shade, and with fringed scallops across the bottom. It's a very formal arrangement, and quite delicate in Home Decor's nylon weave version.

The shop also has a draw drape called Panorama that is a whole mural, not just panels. Its background is pale champagne and the airy mural itself is a velvet print in feeling. The print is hand-screened on antique satin pinch-pleated at the top. For 36-inch width, the price is $40.95.

Informal windows will respond to reversible cafe curtains: solids and stripes, solids and provincial print, or white non-iron broadcloth curtains just like a man's shirt, except for the ruffles and the rosette tie-backs. For a dinette, there is a curtain and valance combination that's all in one. The print displays antiques on a cherry, yellow, or open ground.

Home Decor covers couch or chair with a fringed throw, or a studio couch or Hollywood twin with some new fitted covers of corduroy. Your daughter's bed gets a white percale spread, puckered like plisse, with a full, gathered ruffle attached to the top, by red beading—the most feminine and girlish thing you could imagine. Brother draws a terra-cotta or brown fitted cover in denim with striped trim.

Silver with Elegance. Kirk of Baltimore has sent to LaVake's some repousse silverware, both flat and hollow, and if your way of life responds to its elegance, you'll find it a splendid addition to your collection of accessory pieces.

Repousse silver has elaborate raised floral designs that are made by working the molten silver around a mold. At LaVake's Reid's, there are dressing-table accessories—brush, comb, mirror, small boxes—desk pieces including a silver ruler, and innumerable serving pieces. You'll find trays, serving dishes, candy dishes, jam pots and a wine goblet to buy for your daughter's wedding toast.

When Distance Is Always Tempting!

Take a new Cadillac—point its hood toward some distant destination—and watch what happens!

We would be willing to wager that day's end would find you far closer to journey's end than you could ever have imagined!

We say this because we know how wonderful the miles are when they pass beneath the wheels of a new Cadillac—and how tempting distance is when seen through the windshield of the "car of cars".

First of all, imagine how comfortable and rested you would be! The seat-cushions are soft and deep and perfectly contoured. The steering wheel is ideally positioned . . . and the car is wonderfully spacious.

Then consider how easy the car is to handle! It is incredibly agile and responsive—and wonderfully smooth and level of ride. In fact, if you have selected the extra-cost option of Cadillac's air suspension, you can scarcely detect the presence of the road.

And think of your pride and contentment! The very knowledge that your motor car is so highly admired and so widely respected adds its own reward to each and every mile.

You ought to try it soon. Your dealer will be happy to explain the virtues of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and to give you the facts on every model, including the exclusive Eldorado Brougham.

BUSINESS In Princeton

PBA MEETS

New Officers Take Over. The Princeton Business Association held its first meeting under its new officers Monday night at the Nassau Tavern. A disappointingly small audience of 17 heard Mr. William Miller, member of the New Jersey Commission on State Tax Policy, explain the Commission's recommendations as they would apply, if adopted, to small corporations and unincorporated business firms.

Edward Chobosky, new president of the business organization, told members who were present that the PBA office, staffed part-time by a high school commercial student, mails out some 35-40 copies weekly of the PBA brochure to prospective students, librarians and business firms interested in Princeton. He outlined briefly future plans of the organization, including a membership drive to add to the 130 firms who now belong, and an advertising campaign.

Loar Quikley, retiring president, spoke briefly on FPA credit risk file which now contains over 300 names. He pointed out that it was a lack of key information in inquiry only, and not subject to casual reference even by PBA officers. The committee on an interested business to call the PBA clerk, who has the only key, and ask for data on the customer concerned.

Orren Jack Turner Jr., reporting on final disposition of the Public Service parking lot at Witherspoon and Wiggin, told the group that prospective plant and road some two-hour parking meters in the lot and some for eight hours.

A SHORT MOVE

To Newer, Bigger Store. The Princeton Army and Navy Store, located at 8-10 Witherspoon Street, will make a short but progressive move this summer to newly renovated, larger headquarters at 14 1/2 Witherspoon. Noting that it might have been less costly to move to a site further east, Witherspoon, owner Joseph Caplan said his final decision was motivated by a wish to stay "as near Nassau Street as possible."

The store's new location is the old Hook & Ladder firehouse, which Mr. Caplan purchased for $40,500 last November after the fire company had transferred its operations to the Harrison Street firehouse. At first, the store owner had considered selling or renting the old building, but later he elected to repair it "for an undisclosed sum" for his own business and prospective upstairs renters.

Designed by the Princeton architectural firm of Chorlton & Martin and installed by Tower Construction Company, also of Princeton, the renovations include a new front with windows, indirect lighting and plumbing. The store, with a depth of 107 feet, will occupy about 1,000 square feet of downstairs space. With a new floor space for sales and display, we'll be able to give better service," Mr. Caplan stressed.

After the Princeton Army and Navy Store transfer has been effected, Mr. Caplan will convene the two floors of available office space above him. Already, in anticipation of such development, he has had a separate front entrance constructed to lead to these offices.

Phone Company Offers Building. New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, with new offices in a direct system headquarters at 238 Nassau Street, has announced that

Mr. Burke submitted the best entry in the "Quality Dealer Contest" sponsored by the Chevrolet dealer. The contest, which closed March 15, was open to anyone who bought a new Chevrolet from Prince and then answered in 28 words or less, the question "Why it pays to deal with a quality dealer." Sixty-two purchasers entered the contest which was judged by Post Publications. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

After A Rumor, Facts

The Applied Science Corporation of Princeton (ASCP) has been awarded a contract by the Radio Corporation of America for development of special telemetering equipment. It was announced this week. Officials of ASCP said the company will perform the work as subcontractor to RCA on "a highly classified government project." The total value of ASCP's cost-plus-fixed-fee subcontract is approximately $1,000,000.

As of Tuesday, a spokesman reported, ASCP leased 28,000 square feet of its new Locust Corner plant on the Princeton-Hightstown Road to RCA to provide needed space for RCA development work. ASCP will continue to use the unleased portion of the 77,000-square foot plant for production of electronic data systems and components.

In its issue out March 27, Town Topics first indicated the then-jelling ASCP-RCA negotiations. A rumor, emanating from usually reliable sources, circulated information at that time to the effect that RCA intended to occupy the $1,500,000 ASCP plant for classified work being planned by its Astro Electronics Division. This week's announcement confirmed the basis of the rumor, and more confirmation in the form of additional details is expected to follow several weeks hence.

Its old building at 261 Nassau Street is now up for sale. The two-story brick structure, which housed Princeton's manual change for many years, is located on the southwest corner of the Nassau-Charlton intersection.

The telephone company will receive offers for the building until May 15, according to official notices, and the ensuing sale will be subject to the approval of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners. Prospective buyers are urged to contact Paul L. Langdon, 540 Broad Street, Newark (Mitchell 9-3900, extension 3788).

NEW RESEARCH FIRM

Specialty: Labor Surveys. A new Princeton research corporation—the Institute for Wage Earner Opinion—was officially established here this week at Research Center on State Road. In announcing the establishment, John S. Mount, president, said his company will specialize in surveys of both organized and unorganized labor.

Reason for the institute's formation, according to Mr. Mount, is the current lack of any independent organization in the field specializing in studies of the wage earner, or more than half the American population. This is particularly true in connection with the polling of wage earner wives, whose opinions today are apt to be far different than their husbands, he emphasized.

Constant requests by business, political and union leaders for certain definite data on laboring groups, because of their vastly increased importance economically and by community-wide in recent years, have been uniformly met with the acknowledgment that such information has not been generally available. Mr. Mount pointed out.

For the past decade, Mr. Mount served as director of research for all Gallup & Robinson Opinion Poll operations. He was directly responsible there for special survey projects ordered by such corporate clients as General Electric, General Mills, Westinghouse, Chrysler Motors and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet.

NEW ACCOUNT

U-Store Hires Lenhart Agency. The Princeton University Store has appointed Lenhart and Company, 14 Witherspoon Street, as its public relations and advertising counsel. In the fall, the U-Store will move from the center of the Princeton campus into a new $500,000 building on University Place, expanding its facilities to cover wider range of all kinds of merchandise.

Lenhart and Company will plan and produce all public relations and advertising material covering the move from the old store to the new, and the dedication of the new store. Newspapers, magazines, radio stations and direct mail will be used, according to R. J. Lenhart, the account executive.

"BROOKSTONE"

Q. What is Brookstone?

A. Brookstone is the historic and beautiful Russell Estate which is being improved into 76 building plots for sale to discerning purchasers.

Q. Where is Brookstone?

A. Brookstone is in the exclusive Western Section of Town at Rosedale Road and along picturesque Stony Brook. It is surrounded by the homes and estates of many prominent families of Princeton. It is entirely within the Township of Princeton.

Q. How large are the plots?

A. Each homestead is at least 2 acres in area; others more than 3 1/2 acres. Some plots have frontage on historic Stony Brook. Most lots are beautifully wooded, the rest are natural farmland.

Q. How many plots are available?

A. No more than 12 building sites are for sale this year.

Q. Are the utilities and improvements in?

A. Public water supply, electricity, storm sewers and catch basins, and hardtop roads are in for all lots in Sections I and II.

Q. Are there restrictions?

A. To safeguard the purchaser, deed restrictions have been filed to assure architecture in harmony with the natural beauty of the area. Entrance to and exit from Brookstone is only by way of Fairway Drive, a 100 foot wide approach of 2 one-way roads separated by a landscaped center mall. No individual driveways are permitted onto Rosedale Road.

Q. Can a purchaser choose his own Architect and Builders?

A. Yes. Purchasers in Sections I and II have homes being planned, under construction, or already completed on their lot.

Q. Is title insurance available?

A. Yes. Plots are guaranteed and insured by a quarter-million dollar title policy. All lots in Sections I and II are free and clear of any mortgage.

Q. How much is a lot in Brookstone?

A. Prices start from $10,000 for each plot.

Q. Who has more information and a map of Brookstone?

A. Write or phone owner.

PEOPLE In the News

Dr. Hugh S. Taylor, Dean of the Graduate School at Princeton University, will receive an honorary degree of laws degree from St. Benedict's College, Atchison, Kan., on April 25, "for outstanding contributions to the life of the Catholic Church and to education."

Raymond A. Bowers, president of Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, addressed the meeting of the industrial development seminar sponsored by the Pennsylvania Utilities-Railroad Area Development Association in Pittsburgh. He discussed modern construction costs as related to use, size, location, materials, mechanicals and coordination in industrial construction.

Dr. Dorsey Richardson, 191 Library Place, was a member of the committee which planned the Johns Hopkins University 1958 regional reunion dinner held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Currently vice-president and director of the Lehman Corporation in New York, he received his undergraduate degree and his doctorate from Johns Hopkins.

David W. Bowman of 31 Balsam Lane was among the top ten at St. Bernard's School, Gladstone, at the end of the fourth marking period. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bowman.

J. Ross Bevis of 2535 Main Street, Lawrenceville, devoted part of his spring vacation from Colgate University to canvass alumni in this area for funds to complete the new library before June 1. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Bevis.

James W. Brown, son of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Brown of 552 Mercer Road, has accepted a position for the coming academic year on the faculty of Stanford University. He is at present a teaching fellow at the University of Michigan.

The following students at the Princeton High School have received high honors for the third marking period: Carol Jones, Patricia Brink, Elaine Smith, Susan Beidler, Mary Coffman, Donna Marx and Alan Tucker.

The Rev. David H. McAlpin Jr. of 199 Laurel Circle has been appointed Princeton chairman of the United Negro College Fund. The fund raises 10 percent of the yearly operating costs of 33 member schools, including Tuskegee, Hampton and Fisk.

Sgt. Chester M. Potts 3d, 52 Fisher Avenue, is participating in "Exercise Eagle Wing," a 101st Airborne Division maneuver at Fort Campbell, Ky. His wife, Darlene, is with him at Fort Campbell. He attended Princeton High School.

Benjamin Santiago, son of Enrique Santiago, Princeton Nurseries, Kingslin, has received a high school equivalency certificate at Long Beach, Calif., where he is a member of the 86th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Missile Battalion. Mr. Santiago, a private first class, has been in the Army since 1950.

Robert E. Harlow, Quaker Bridge Road, and John Drury, 41 Harrison Street, are exhibiting their art this month from 9:30 until 1 A.M. in the dining room gallery at Lambertville House. Mr. Drury is showing watercolors and Mr. Harlow oil paintings.

Ray J. Combs and Donald A. Schaeffer, First National Bank officials, attended a demonstration of electronic bookkeeping equipment at the First Pennsylvania Banking and Trust Company, Philadelphia. This new system, known as Semitronics, greatly speeds up check processing.

Major Stephen A. Nemeth, 94 Longview Drive, assistant professor of military science and tactics at Princeton University, spoke and showed a film on the Army's various Nike missiles at last week's meeting of the Princeton Kiwanis Club. A University of Pittsburgh graduate, Maj. Nemeth has been on active duty since January 15, 1941, serving in different stateside anti-aircraft units and making the amphibious landing on Okinawa during World War II. The major, who has participated in cold weather tests with Task Force Frigid in Alaska and warm weather maneuvers in Puerto Rico, has been selected to attend the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, commencing in August.

SPORTS
In Princeton
TRAVELING TIGERS
Teams on the Road. Looking forward to Saturday's game, the Tigers will have a busy day. Saturday in May, when the sports calendar calls for particularly intense action at home, Princeton teams will largely be on the road for the next two weekends. This Saturday is especially devoid of activity on the home front, with a triangular match against Columbia and Georgetown in golf and a freshman lacrosse game against Hofstra the only contests. Princeton lacrosse and tennis teams and the crew will meet Navy at Annapolis, while the baseball and track teams travel to New York to face Columbia. Victories at the varsity level were scarce last week, but prospects for improvement are clear cut, with only the lacrosse team going into its game as a definite underdog.

Double Defeat. A baseball-lacrosse doubleheader, staged on University Field last Saturday despite the muddy footing, eluded Princeton in full. Dartmouth's impressive baseball team began the day's action by blanking the Tiger nine, 3-0, and Johns Hopkins' national lacrosse champions concluded matters as they racked up a 16-7 triumph over the patrician Princetonians. Felling into a tendency it has shown in recent years of making more errors than it does hits, the ball team lost a pitchers' duel to the Indians when it came apart in the seventh inning. Two misplays put runners on second and third and a solid double to right drove them both across. An earned run in the eighth, scored on a single, a sacrifice and another two base blow, served as insurance.

Art Quirk, Dartmouth southpaw struck out 14 and scattered three singles—a total sharp in contrast to the four misplays with which the Tigers were charged. Only one Princeton runner got as far as third base during the long, dull afternoon.

Injuries have raised hoo with the Tigers' infield, which presented a patched up appearance Saturday. Second baseman Gene Mignone is still hothovered with a sore throwing arm, and Gene Locks was out of action at third with a leg that required 12 stitches when he was hurt in an automobile accident.

Carl Belz left the game when his basketball ankle sprain was aggravated by a collision at first base. Center fielder Dick Edie took over at first, with Mike Ippolito moving from right to center and Emien Ilare, a recruit of nearby Lawrence Township, filling the vacancy in right.

Last week, Junior Art Burns became the only Princeton pitcher to go nine innings this spring when he tossed a four-hitter at Rutgers. The Tigers got extra base blows at timely moments, sophomore shortstop Ken Murray driving in three runs at New Brunswick with a 385-foot homer. It was his second of the young season.

New York University was on the schedule Wednesday, with Selton Hall here Thursday at 4. The Tigers will play their second league game Saturday against Columbia, but off Dartmouth's fast start (now 3-0 in the standing) it is going to be mighty difficult to catch the Green.

Other Sports. A first-period freeze slowed Johns Hopkins' visitors' powerful lacrosse team getting a goal in the opening minute but failing to repeat until the second quarter was under way. Five goals in each of the last three periods made matters tough for Princeton, although the losers did manage to match Johns Hopkins' total in the final round. A crowd of nearly 1,000, many of them from Baltimore, watched the contest. That city has long been the center of the sport, with games getting sizeable press coverage and drawing thousands of spectators.

The tennis team defeated Williams, 7-2, to raise its record to 3-3, but the golf team lost to Navy, 4-3, while defeating Boston College, 5-2. The triangular affair was staged at Annapolis. In track, Princeton lost only one running event as it whipped Rutgers, 40 to 45, at New Brunswick. The crew had no opponent but has hopes for a successful season starting this Saturday (see box, page 20).

SPONSORS NEEDED
As Midgents' Season Near's. With the opening of the 1958 campaign only 30 days away, the Princeton YMCA Midgiet Baseball League this week is still seeking three sponsors to help support the 12-team organization. The Redlegs, Tigers, and Athletics, to be managed by Tom Smith, Bill Wilkins and George Pierre, respectively, must receive financial aid before April 28 in order to take to the playing field in appropriate uniforms.

Robert Bredenberg, handling the league for the Y, asked all prospective sponsors to contact him immediately at 102 Witherspoon Street. He listed the rest of the circuit, with sponsors and managers, as follows: Braves (Music Shop), Robert Feeney Pirates (Plainsboro Lions), Herman Wettington; Giants (Princeton Municipal Improvement), Bob Decker; Dodgers (Princeton Rotary Club), Bill Blazer and Dave De LaCour; Cardinals (Patrolmen's Benevolent Association), Jack Petrone; Red Sox (Prince of Georges Club), Harland Hoisington; Indians (Princeton Jaycees), Rick Mathews; Orioles (American Legion), Bob Schmidt, and Yankees (Hult's), Charles Mueller.

DUTCH SCHOCH Princeton Crew Coach

The corners of the coach's mouth were turned so far down it was all the reporter could do to understand his muttered comment. "We'll be out to finish the same afternoon that they do. I don't see how we can possibly beat a boat as good as the one in crew, and many another boat, the fraternity of coaches who deal in professional pessimism far outnumber those who will openly concede before an event that their charges have a chance. Even if a football team whose coach hoped "there'll be enough of my boys in one piece so that we can play again next week" wallows the opposition by three touchdowns, he'll never admit he could have seen the victory coming. Pessimism, no matter how unwarmed, is too often worn as a shield of protection.

Reflexingly sharp in contrast to the professional gloomspans is the perennial attitude of Dutch Schoch, whose considered opinion on his 1958 prospects is that "this looks like the best varsity crew I've had since I've been at Princeton." The big genial "Dutch" is a University of Washington-trained oarsman, has been on the Nassau rowing team for the past 13 years.

In addition to living and breathing the "religion" that is the driving force of all true oarsmen, Schoch is a tremendous enthusiast. His coaching philosophy tends toward a natural optimism because he thinks it makes for better crews.

Told by associates that predictions of success can backfire, Schoch thoroughly disagrees. "I will not," he says, with the same firm degree of emphasis that guides his daily instruction on the lake, "and my guys to the stake boats thinking they are going to get better."

Looking at his current varsity, which opens against Navy at Annapolis this Saturday, Schoch sees "all the necessary physical equipment and experience to give us a highly successful season." With five men back from the boat that finished fourth in the 1957 national regatta and earlier had won both the Childs and Compton Cups, the Tigers have their sights set high. Their immediate aim is to avenge last year's loss to the midshipmen, one that was accorded a matter of inches between the prows and a tenth of a second on the timers' watches.

After defending the Childs Cup against Penn and Columbia on the Schuylkill, Schoch's flotilla will return home for three big Saturdays in May: The Compton and Carnegie Cup regattas and the Eastern Sprint Championships. Each time Princeton's blades bite into the boat, Dutch Schoch, run, some of the impetus will be directly attributable to Dutch Schoch's refreshing optimism and resolute belief that "It can be done."

expected development and promptly awarded their rookie coach, Bob McGlincy, a well-earned 5-1 verdict over Solebury.

As might be figured early in the season—an especially wet season to date—the Johnny Huns rolled on some fine pitching by veteran rightlander Charley Bennett rather than their vaunted hitting attack. They placed their faith in good hands, for Bennett responded with a glittering three-hit, seven-inning performance that featured 14 strikeouts and only two passes.

McGlincy's Red and Black players jumped on Bill Warner, the visitors' hurler, for three unearned runs in the first inning—a significant advantage in view of the fact that he settled down appreciably thereafter. An ex-Trenton Catholic moundman, Warner scattered eight Hun safeties, including only one extra base blow, and fanned eight and walked four while allowing a lone earned run.

For the winning runs, Centerfielder Dick Berger singled and doubled in three trips to the plate, his two-bagger scoring a fourth unearned tally. In the fourth, and Shortstop Tommy Petrone, who just moved over from Witherspoon School this year, cracked two singles in four tries. Princeton's George Cramer, patrolling third base in the absence of Marshall Huns, picked up one in three attempts, his seventh inning single knocking home Petrone with Huns' sole earned run of the afternoon.

Bennett looked strong until the last frame, when he gave up two of the three singles Solebury managed and was obliged to forfeit a shutout by virtue of an earned marker. Lou D'Ambrosio, filling in at Cramer's regular second base, did nicely, and co-

week that five New York area independent schools have joined together to form the national first private school lacrosse league. In addition to Hun and N.Y.M.A., the group to be known as the Interstate Lacrosse Conference will consist of Deerpark Military Academy, Pingry School and Brooklynn Polytechnic Prep.

Commander of the new hoop will be Pingry's coach, Larry Fitch, and the competing teams are scheduled to vie for a trophy which has been donated by the Lacrosse Club at Rutgers University. The three New York members of the conference have long been active in scholastic lacrosse, while the sport is enjoying new growth in New Jersey schools (it played its first season in '57). A third New Jersey team, Peddie, will be associated informally with the federation.

At last week's annual winter sports banquet, delayed by a two-week Easter vacation, Dr. Paul R. Chesbrough, Hun's headmaster, praised the work done by George Selbeck, varsity basketball coach, Roger Patton, varsity wrestling coach, and Walterman, James Reed, Princeton University's varsity soccer and wrestling coach, served as head speaker.

The Douglas Schoenbeck Memorial Basketball Trophy, established in 1935 and presented each year to the Red and Black player displaying the best basketball sportsmanship and for otherwise emulating the high character standards of the boy whom the award memorializes, was given to Captain Chuck Barron. A dozen varsity letters were presented, including those to Tom Horwich of Chicago, captain-elect, and Princetonians George Cramer, Tommy Petrone, Alan Frank and Jim Tiede.

Seven members of Hun's junior varsity basketball squad received letters, while 10 freshmen were honored for their basketball endeavors. Among the freshman group, from the Princeton area, were Mike Donahue, Chris Farley, Tom Johnson, James Pietrini, and Alan Wirsig and Dick Gallaudet.

Coach Patton awarded 10 letters to varsity wrestling performers. John Koffer, Titusville, one of the recipients, also won the school's Coach's Award and was named captain of the varsity grappling team for next year. The award is given annually to the athlete, chosen from all participants in winter sports, who, in the opinion of the coaches, shows both the most improvement and the greatest desire to improve in his particular sport.

New Linden Generating Station

In answer to New Jersey's growing desire to Live Better Electrically, Public Service this week formally opened its newest generating station—Linden.

Built at a cost of $100,000,000 the new station actually has two units of 225,000-kilowatt capacity each. The station is so designed that additional units can be built when the demand for more electricity arises. Since the Spring of 1945, Public Service has increased its generating capacity by more than 100% so that today with its new Linden Station it has a total generating capacity of about 2,500,000 kilowatts to serve our electric customers.

Here is an excellent indicator of the expansion of the economy of the State of New Jersey, for the growth of industry, of commerce, of homes can be measured in the increased demand for electric service.

Public Service believes that the steady growth of New Jersey's economy, in building at the junction of Overpeck Creek and the Hackensack River, the new Bergeco Generating Station with two initial units of 290,000 kilowatts each. This station will be in service in 1959 and will represent an estimated expenditure of $105,000,000.

Work has started on the new Mercer Generating Station on the Delaware River. This station, costing an estimated $130,000,000 will have initially two units of 320,000 kilowatts each, one of which will be in service in 1960—the other in 1961.

Be assured that Public Service looks to the future with confidence and is building to meet the electrical demand it will bring.

"The Big Swap"

The friendly relationship of Reddy Kilowatt—electricity's man-of-all-work and Esso—Standard Oil's man of many and varied capabilities have joined hands to put together what is known as the "Big Swap."

In simple terms it is this—

1. Reddy Kilowatt furnishes steam to Esso.
2. Reddy Kilowatt receives fuel oil from his next door neighbor Esso.
3. Reddy Kilowatt receives water from Esso.
4. Reddy Kilowatt sells electricity to Esso.

This "Swap" makes an over all electric steam generating efficiency second to none in the country.

lected one safely in two official bats. Captain John Kenrick, Hun's power-hitting first sacker, singled only once in four trips, but his timing will improve as the campaign progresses.

The postponed contest with George will be re-scheduled in late May. During the coming week, the Johnny Huns will meet two other Pennsylvania opponents, Bryn Athyn over there this Friday and Germantown Friends here at 3:15 p.m. next Tuesday. A home game with Admiral Farragut this Wednesday was slated to get underway as Town Topics went to press with the current issue.

GOOD BEGINNING

PHS Nine Triumphs. Major league scouts representing the Orioles and Indians showed up at Princeton High Tuesday afternoon to watch Ewing's Al Lyon pounce, but the Little Tigers shelved the Blue Devil southpaw so badly that Lyon left the mound and the special guests left the premises after five rounds. Maybe they should have stuck around, for Princeton's new saphomore leftie, Jack Lackey, buried an impressive full-distance game and the home team won its '58 opener, 7-5.

Actually, the 16-year-old PHS fast-baller deserved a shoutout in his debut for the Blue and White, despite two costly walks in the fifth inning. That was the only frame in which he was sabotaged seriously by his teammates, who committed an unbelievable total of six errors to let in all of Ewing's runs—all of them unearned—at one time. Otherwise, the Little Tigers gloved creditably behind young Lackey, who allowed only two hits, struck out six and scattered seven walks.

Coach Harry Zoll's Princetonians hopped on Lyon for three quick tallies on four solid singles in the first inning. Joe Chibbaro, Steve Hogarty, Alan Ammann and Jack Hawkins started the ball rolling that eventually was destined to flatten the stylish Blue Devil senior. A single by Arnie Skaar and a Ewing miscue gave PHS another run in the second, and an inning later, another error and Hawkins' two-bagger netted run No. 5. In the fourth, the Little Tigers sewed up the contest on consecutive singles by Lackey and Captain Bryce Chase. Chibbaro's neat sacrifice bunt and Bruce Sandvich's timely blow.

Displaying an unusual amount of power for their first time out, the Little Tigers collected 10 safeties, including a pair of doubles by saphomore Hawkins, whose three-for-three showing sparked the victors' attack. PHS was guilty of eight strikeouts, while picking up only three passes, but Zoll was understandably pleased by the combined exhibition of his pitcher and swingers.

Ed Valvo, coach of the visitors, said he thinks the Little Tigers look like the best bunch of ball players to wear Princeton uniforms after the frightful fifth. Valvo noted that the scouts probably came to observe Lyon on the strength of his 17 strikeouts in Ewing's 6-3 win over Mt. Holly last week. However, his left-hander, who has never had trouble with PHS in the past, was way off form Tuesday, possibly because he was needed in relief to save a beautiful 2-1, 11-inning verdict over Burlington the previous afternoon, the coach pointed out.

This Friday, the Little Tigers will get a severe test in Trenton against Trenton High, with senior Bob Walker, a promising right-hander, slated to toil for the Princetonians. Next Monday, also in Trenton, Zoll will start Lackey, Hawkins or Walker against Trenton Catholic, his choice depending a lot on Friday's developments. PHS will be back home at 3:30 next Thursday for a meeting with Hamilton's Hornets.

News Of The CHURCHES

KNOW YOUR PASTOR

(Sixth of a Series)

Meet Mr. Morgan. The pastor of Princeton's newest church comes from one of Princeton's oldest ministerial families.

The Rev. Edward H. Morgan, Western Road Church, was born in the family of the Presbyterian church of Summit, New Jersey, where his father, the Rev. Minnie C. Morgan was pastor. His great-uncle, Henry Green Morgan, was a professor at Princeton Seminary for 50 years. And in the present generation, Mr. Morgan's younger brother, Henry, is a pastor affiliated with the Southern Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mr. Morgan himself began his ministry as a Presbyterian, graduating from Princeton Seminary after preparatory work at Hotchkiss and Princeton (class of '81). For seven years, he served the congregation of the First Presbyterian church in Springfield, Pennsylvania, and then in 1892, he faced the growing realization that he felt a stronger call to the independent, un denominational church.

"I am a conservative," he says, "an evangelical minister, and I felt that my opportunities for service would be greater in that kind of church."

The decision led him to Grace Church, independent, Roanoke, Virginia, where he remained for over three years.

Come to Princeton. Meanwhile, three Princetonians, Miss Dorothy Harris, her sister, Miss Helen Harris, and their brother, W. Butler Harris, had begun to lay plans for the Western Road Church. These plans led to some

Concert at Westminster

Calvary Baptists who gather each Sunday morning for worship in the Chapel of Westminster Choir College, will be singing at 7:30 p.m. to hear a concert by the Chapel Choir of Westminster Choir College. The public is invited to join the sponsoring Baptists.

The Chapel Choir, under the direction of Harold Hedgpath, is composed of all students who turn 18 in the Westminster Choir College in September. By the end of the college year, this choir will have given about 100 performances in churches and schools in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

This Sunday they will sing the Kyrie, Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei of Milton Dieckhoff, and hymns by David S. York, director of music for Princeton's Second Presbyterian church, and Christmas and Easter anthems and five Negro spirituals.

conversations with Mr. Morgan in Virginia, and as a result, he accepted a call to Western Road and took over the pulpit of the new church in November, 1958. Mr. Morgan is a member of the Western Road church which is largely the teaching of the Bible, gospel preaching and prayer. Over half of its members come from outside Princeton Junction, and as far as Lambertville, Western Road's basic emphasis is on missions, and the church's 46 members give partial support to three missionary families.

When he walks from his pleasant church study across the lawn to the Manor next door, the Rev. Mr. Morgan takes off his clerical robes and puts on the informal dress of a man who likes to romp outdoors with his children. A member of the freshman crew in his Princeton days, a crew coach (Salsbury School), Mr. Morgan retains an interest in sports, although the opportunities for crew on Western Road are somewhat limited.

Sofball, kick-ball, basketball and touch football with a crew coach (Salsbury School), Mr. Morgan retains an interest in sports, although the opportunities for crew on Western Road are somewhat limited. Softball, kick-ball, basketball and touch football with a crew coach (Salsbury School), Mr. Morgan retains an interest in sports, although the opportunities for crew on Western Road are somewhat limited.

For the gentle-voiced pastor, happy in his new church, the future means "that I will keep on preaching the word and teaching the Gospel and having a share in the worldwide proclamation of God's saving grace in Christ."

B'nai B'rith Installs. Princeton's chapter of B'nai B'rith will hold its second annual installation of officers at the Jewish Center this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. The following officers will be installed:

Mrs. Maurice Zinkler, president; Mrs. Merrill Ginder, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank Lewis, second vice-president; Mrs. William Herman, third vice-president; Mrs. Simon Lank, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Herbert Mok, treasurer; Mrs. Herman Cohen, counselor.

Guest of honor will be Idelle Lipschitz, past president of the Northern New Jersey Council, who will preside and will offer a luncheon on Jewish humor. Dr. Irving Levy, director of the Hillel Foundation, Princeton, will deliver the invocation.

presence and paid $25 fines, were Marvin Trotman, 19, of 198 Birch Avenue; William Oliver, 27, of R.D. 1; and Norman Hines, 30, of 7 Jackson.

Sgt. Robert J. Anderson, who supervised the raid, said Bingham's Dry Cleaners had been "under surveillance" for a long time, but the anonymous phone tip was "most helpful." Armed with shotguns as well as their usual sidearms, Patrolmen Arthur Gallant, Russell Shange and James Kopliner "surprised" the gamblers with Sgt. Anderson. Patrolman Dan Hagador coordinated the raid from the police desk in Borough Hall, where he received the original tip and alerted the other officers by radio.

Bird Skips on Exhibit. Bird watchers will have a chance to check the characteristics of birds when the Princeton Museum of Zoology opens its collection of bird skins next week. The whole bird collection will be on display 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in Room 320 of Guyot Hall at the University Campus.

The Trenton Naturalist Club is sponsoring the exhibition of the collection, which is under the care of curator Charles H. Rogers. Visitors will be asked to handle the bird skins.

if you're a claustrophile, DON'T CALL!

We have nothing to say to people who like cramped spaces. But if the feeling of walls pressing in on you is something you prefer to live without, let us tell you. We have a house that has plenty of rooms and light and air. Surprisingly enough, you don't have to be a bank president (or even his son) to own one. It actually provides more space for less bucks. We'd like to explain and show you our concept of a new type of light-hearted house that we deeply believe in — the Techbuilt House.

LARGE, LOVELY AND LIVABLE for $78,500

To our way of thinking, the layout of this immaculate house on a lovely street in the West End is as perfect for a large family as any house we've seen. Large, airy living (with built-in bar) and dining rooms, den, excellent kitchen, dinette, playroom, and maid's room and bath on the first floor; six delightful bedrooms and three baths on the second floor; attic and dry basement big enough for ping-pong table, laundry and storage, with plenty of wood closets everywhere—what more could any family need? And site notwithstanding, the house is so compactly laid out that it can easily run without the usually hard-to-get staff. As a topper, the beautifully landscaped grounds overlook the golf course.

THREE GOOD BUYS at $35,000; 2 ranches, 1 two-story frame.

LARGE SELECTION NEW HOUSES; 3, 4, 6 b.r., nice locations; Ranches, Colonials, Split. $15,900 - $32,500.

TWO LINE TREASURES**

Cute 2 b.r. ranch, paneled 1st, nice condition—$12,000.
Cape Cod, 3 b.r., room for one on end 2nd floor—$17,900.

REASONABLE RANCH

was $25,000

Reduced for Quick Sale

See It—Make An Offer

For a bargain hunter in a hurry, we have just the thing: a pretty ranch, in good condition, with a large living room and fine fireplace, three nice bedrooms and two baths. The breeze-way and garage can be made into either room or two for approximately $2000. All this with a screened porch overlooking a particularly pretty, large secluded lot. In fact, to subdivide land would make quite a buy for $25,000 or less.

ZIRADRYL

FOR POISON IVY AND POISON OAK

ZIRADRYL Cream and Lotion protects against poison ivy and poison oak. If you have reason to expect exposure to them in work or play, apply the cream or the lotion beforehand to face, arms, legs and hands.

ZIRADRYL also provides relief of itching after contact. Its effective ingredients relieve pain, stop irritation and check spreading. ZIRADRYL is easily removed with water and can be used generously three or four times daily.
